Carroll Technologies Expands to Montana

Now Operating in 3 Western States

Beckley, West Virginia, August 8, 2011 ---- Carroll Technologies Group, America's largest independent electronic services organization to the coal industry, today announced the opening of sales engineering operations in Montana.

According to Mike Hastings, President of Carroll Technologies, "Over the last two years we have been working to establish a national sales and service network to service mining operators across the USA. We now operate in eight states with 13 operations centers, three of which are in the Western US. As our customer base expands, we continue to be their 'go-to' choice for products and services including our newest addition, MagneLink™ from our strategic partner Lockheed-Martin."

Like the company's other centers, the new Montana operation will provide customers rapid access to Carroll's sales, service, and repair operations as well as its extensive spare parts depot. Also, customers in Montana benefit from Carroll's networked MinerCare 24/7™ service organization.

Mike Hastings also indicated that the company's expansion plans are continuing—both geographically and through the recent sales partnership with Lockheed-Martin. Hastings added, "Our philosophy is 'Go where the business takes you.'" And we are happy to report that the business is taking us to more and more mining operations across the USA."

About Carroll Technologies Group

Carroll Technologies Group consisting of Delta Electric, Inc. and Carroll Engineering Co. has been servicing the mining industry in North America for over 30 years. From its early history in the coalfields of West Virginia and Kentucky, Carroll Technologies Group has expanded to become the largest privately held and best electronic services group in the U.S.A., providing over 800 mines with advanced technology communications, employee and equipment tracking systems, safety monitoring systems, and a broad range of other safety equipment. Today Carroll Technologies Group and its two operating subsidiaries – Carroll Engineering Co. and Delta Electric Inc.—service the needs of mining companies with a network of 13 distribution centers and Miner Care 24/7™ support offices strategically located in 8 states.
